Teaching Experience

Faculty Development

As Associate Director of the MSU Center for Teaching and Learning, I developed and taught faculty workshops on topics related to instructional technology and pedagogical issues. Coordinated implementation of the latest faculty instructional technology bootcamp. Worked as part of a team developing an intensive workshop for faculty teaching within the Mississippi State University distance education program. A selected list of workshops includes taught since 2006 includes:

- Developing a Successful Curriculum Vitae
- Avoiding and Detecting Plagiarism in Your Classroom
- Web 2.0 in the Classroom
- Developing a Teaching Portfolio
- Developing a Course Syllabus
- Introduction to the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning
- Introduction to Turnitin.com
- Emerging Technology in Higher Education

Library Science

Taught numerous library instruction sessions. Developed a series of workshops for faculty on using selected social science and business data resources, including ICPSR data files, Census materials, and Standard & Poor's Compustat database. Other instructional responsibilities include:

- Generative AI workshops: as part of an expanding role for the MSU Libraries on campus in support of generative AI, several new workshops are under development or scheduled for the Fall 2024 semester:
 - Understanding the Ethical Use of Generative AI
 - Leveraging Generative AI for Efficient Literature Reviews
- Research Impact and Scholarly Support Workshops:
 - Publishing 101: Navigating the Academic Publishing Process
 - Who's Citing You? Tracking the Impact of Your Research
- EN 3414, Advanced Composition: coordinated the fourth hour of the four-hour course. Included instructional and technology sessions. Worked with faculty in the departments of English and Curriculum/Instruction in the development of a learning community for secondary education majors with an emphasis on English; LC was funded as a special section of EN 3414 in the fall of 2006.
- BCH 4990: Library Section of Protein Methods. Served as instructor of record. Worked with biochemistry faculty to develop for-credit companion library/technology skills course for the mandatory Protein Methods class. Majors are required to take both classes concurrently. Worked with the Instructional Media Center staff to develop sessions designed to correspond to the companion course. Topics includes advanced Excel sessions with a focus on data manipulation, Photoshop, library databases (such as SciFinder Scholar) and Internet resources such as the NCBI suite of databases. Served as the primary instructor for the new course, taught from Fall 2009 to Fall 2013, as BCH 4503/6503 Scientific Communication Skills.
- BCH 4503/6503, Scientific Communication Skills. Developed as an expanded, three credit hour version of BCH 4990. Taught in collaboration with faculty from the Department of Biochemistry & Molecular Biology. The split-level class includes upper divisional undergraduates and graduate students; the class is required of all undergraduate biochemistry majors. The class focuses on issues related to the information, research, and technical literacy needed by 21st century scientists.
- Survival Skills for Graduate Workshop series: developed and implemented a specialized series of workshops designed to assist graduate students (especially doctoral students) in their academic studies. Taught both online and face-to-face sessions. Session topics include:
 - Demystifying the Dissertation Process
 - Developing a Lit Review: An Overview for Graduate Students
 - Landing on the Tenure Track: Job Hunting in Academe
 - Crafting the Winning Curriculum Vitae
 - Grant$ for Grad$: Dissertation and Research Funding
 - Publishing 101 for Grad Students
 - Research Ethics and the Graduate Student
 - Money 101 for Graduate Students
 - Writing the Research Statement
 - Writing the Teaching Statement/Philosophy

- Practical Professor Workshop series: developed specialized sessions for an existing workshop series, designed to assist faculty in their research. Topics developed and taught include:
 - Incorporating Library Resources into Your Distance Education Class
 - Before You Sign: Understanding Your Rights as an Author
 - Twitter 101 for Faculty
 - I Can't Believe I Missed That! Using Alert Services
 - Strategies for Effective Writing with Quantitative Data
 - Using Scopus to Enhance Your Research Results
 - Tenure 101: Understanding the Tenure and Promotion Process
- Specialized workshops: developed and taught specialized topics such as EndNote, using citation indexing sources, preventing plagiarism in the classroom, and using MAGNOLIA databases in the K-12 classroom.

Economics

Taught undergraduate classes in the Department of Finance and Economics at Mississippi State University, including:

- Principles of Macroeconomics
- Principles of Microeconomics
- Economics of Social Issues

Political Science
